WebOodi – new interface

After logging in the new front page displays top banner (dark blue – white) and four white boxes: News and announcements, Most recently viewed course catalogues, Today’s calendar and Most recent grades. Functions of these are introduced briefly below.

Top banner: Functions previously found in the left-hand menu have been moved to the top of the page. In the dark blue top banner, you see the language switch (FI/EN), the Help menu (the question mark), the name button (behind which Personal data and Settings), and the quick search function. The rest of the functions are located right underneath these (white banner): Front page, My studies, Study plans, Instruction and courses and Tools.

News and announcements: shows current news and lists official transcripts of yours when ordered through WebOodi

Most recently viewed course catalogues: shows the course catalogues you have last browsed

Today's calendar: shows the info of the courses you have signed up for that have meetings on the present day

Most recent grades: displays a list of your most recent grades recorded in the student register

Search for courses

The search function has also been rebuilt. You can launch the search either by using the quick search function in the top banner or by selecting ‘Instruction and courses’ → Search.

With the basic search, you need to know a part of the course name or code, or the organization of the course to start the search. ‘Advanced search’ gives you more options to narrow the search: Type, Date, Language of instruction. When your search is complete, it is possible for you to filter the search results: by ticking the box ‘Show only those with ongoing registration’, you only get courses for which it is possible to register. If you select ‘Show all’, you get both courses with teaching and exams. By selecting ‘Show teaching only’, you get only courses with teaching. If you select ‘Show exams only’, the search only displays exams.

Looking at the search results, the code link always displays the basic information, including course description, of the course. The name link shows the practical details (schedule, location, registration) of the course. The same page opens if you click the ‘Register’ button in the search results list.

NB! There are no more separate Back buttons when you navigate between the search page and the course pages. Use the Back button of your browser instead.
