The online feedback system is Webropol, which is already in use in Aalto. In Webropol, there is a separate course feedback user interface for teachers. The system retrieves course information from Oodi and creates a feedback form to Webropol based on the Oodi information. Before the course feedback survey is made public for the students, the teacher receives an e-mail message from the system. By following the link in the message, the teacher can view the survey and add her/his own questions.

So-called Aalto questions (4 items) are asked in all courses. In addition to the Aalto questions, there are also school-specific questions as a default in each feedback survey.

In each school, there is a main user for the course feedback system. The main user helps teachers in using the system and has access to all course feedback surveys of the school.
